The book, 'How Asia Works' narrates the story of how the three North East Asian nations (Japan, South Korea, Taiwan) and now China have effectively employed those economic policies to attain prosperity while the South East Asian nations (Malaysia, Indonesia, Philippines and Thailand) doing the same but ineffectively, failed.

How Asia works : success and failure in the world's most ...

The tone of How Asia Works is dry, to put it mildly. But I did enjoy Studwell's occasional accounts of arriving in various Asian capitals and noting the correlation of personal service to the local Gini coefficient (a metric of wealth inequality within a particular country): Studwell instantly senses the passage from Gini coefficient 3.0 to 5.0.
